EXPERIENCE TO SUPPORT MISSOURI'S CAPTIVE INDUSTRY

- The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) is headquartered in Kansas City with Chlora Lindley-Myers, Missouri Department of Commerce and Insurance Director serving as 2023 NAIC President.
- The Department has the experience and flexibility to provide the level of knowledge needed for nearly any situation. The team consists of a full-time captive manager and at least nine dedicated staff with over 100 years combined experience in the insurance and captive world, with easy access to other internal experts as needed.
- Missouri is honored to be the home for some of the world's largest:
 - Captive insurance managers
 - Insurance and reinsurance brokers and intermediaries
 - Accounting firms
 - Actuarial firms

LAWS AND REGULATION THAT ENCOURAGE CAPTIVE GROWTH

- Missouri captive laws offer several options for businesses and are specifically designed to minimize the need for mandated regulation and oversight.
- Captive structures available in Missouri:
 - Pure captives
 - Association captives
 - Industrial insured captive
 - Branch captive
 - Sponsored captives or cell
 - Special purpose life reinsurance captive
- Missouri Captive Insurance Association is an independent group of captive professionals that actively engage in making the state a captive destination.

LOCATION MATTERS

- Centrally located within continental U.S. means all roads lead to Missouri.
- Major airports located in St. Louis, Kansas City, Springfield, and Columbia, getting you closer to your destination without additional drive time.
- With offices in St. Louis, Kansas City, and Jefferson City, we are within a short drive from your suggested meeting place.
